Powerline opponents granted public hearing postponement

By BRENT MACEY

Opponents of a 500,000 volt transmission line planned for construction through northern Hancock County from Pascagoula to Baton Rouge, La. feel they have won their first battle against the Mississippi Power Co.

Sheila Madden, a Pearl River County resident helping to organize a group of citizens against construction of the line through that county and Hancock, stated Thursday that the Public Service Commission has agreed to postpone a March 25 hearing in Jackson which was previously set as the date to consider granting the power company a construction permit.

According to Madden, a docket date for considering setting another public hearing has been set for April 6 by the PSC.

The commission granted a surveying permit to the company on Jan. 7.

Citizens in Hancock and Pearl River County only recently became aware they could be affected by the line when surveyors for the power company showed up on their property to mark the route.

Madden, in a recent telephone interview with The Sea Coast Echo, stated the company was "going like wildfire" in its attempt to construct the 140 mile line from the Daniel Electric Generating Plant in Pascagoula to a point near Baton Rouge.

At that time she hoped to organize Hancock and Pearl River County residents to stall the company's plans for construction.

A week after learning the line would pass some quarter mile from her house in Picayune, Madden and some 70 other citizens from Hancock and Pearl River County formed Citizens for Orderly Development to halt construction of the line.

She noted the first objective of the group was to stall the power company so that citizens could "organize more effectively."

"We had a tremendous writing campaign," Madden stated Thursday.

"They (the PSC) admitted they were flooded with letters and phone calls."

At approximately the same time Madden learned of the public hearing date change.

Ed Martin, a reporter for television station WWL Channel 4 in New Orleans, has also indicated an interest in doing a story on the issue, Madden said.

She expects Martin will travel to Mississippi this week.

The group is continuing to gather strength, Madden stated.

She said some people in Pearl River County are refusing to allow the surveyors on their property.

"They are saying no, go get the sheriff," she said.

She noted several doctors and lawyers in the Poplarville-Picayune communities have also decided to join ranks with power company opposition.

Madden now hopes to have the PSC schedule the next public hearing in Pearl River County.

"We are requesting a local hearing. There are four counties involved down here. Jackson is a long way away," she said.

Mississippi Power is a subsidiary of the Southern Co. based in Atlanta, Ga. which has signed a contract with Gulf States Utilities of Beaumont, Tex. to supply that company with coal-powered electricity from 1984 until 1992.

Company officials say the line needed to transport the power will offer no hazardous affects.

However, many people now realizing the line will pass through their property for the first time are health hazards.

Others are concerned about the devaluation of their property, and some are concerned of the environmental impact.

City, county animal shelter construction at standstill

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Site preparation work for construction of a Hancock County Animal Shelter is at a standstill.

The county and the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland have no facility to house stray animals after months of efforts by the County Animal Control Commission to secure a site.

Previously, an overcrowded and outdated pound located on property owned by Alcan Cable Co. in Bay St. Louis was used by the two cities, but an expected plant expansion forced the company to utilize the property and shut down the facility.

Construction of the shelter was planned for the west bank of the Bay St. Louis sewage oxidation pond.

Previous plans called for the shelter's construction on the east bank, but that site location was apparently changed by the commission when the Bay City Council recently proposed expanding the lagoon in that area.

Other sites previously considered were the County Fairgrounds and private property which a Waveland resident offered to donate. Plans for these sites were abandoned when surrounding property owners objected.

The Navy Seabees based in Gulfport have offered to build the shelter at no charge to the county, other than materials and the cost of donated funds to buy those items to construct a city-county shelter.

Presently, compassionate citizens and members of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society are finding homes or SHELTER—Page 8A

Holdup suspect nabbed in Texas

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A suspect involved in the Jan. 16 armed robbery of Firetower Road resident Virginia Guilbeau is being held in the Jefferson County Jail in Texas according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson Friday said, "Warrants were issued for the suspect, Marilyn Page, 33, a white female who was being held in the Jefferson jail for Pascagoula Police on embezzlement charges."

"Hancock Investigator Alvin Ladner, T.P. Naylor, senior investigator of the Coastal Bureau of Criminal Investigation for the State Highway Patrol, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, have been working on the case for two months," Peterson noted.

The sheriff reported, "Guilbeau reported that a white female in her 30's had struck her on the head and took a gun she had in her left hand as she was trying to open her front door on the night of the armed robbery. We feel the suspect had used a blackjack to hit the victim and then made Guilbeau lay down on the concrete. In addition to her gun, jewelry and an undetermined amount of cash was taken before the assailant fled."

A warrant has been issued by Hancock authorities and a bond of $50,000 has been set on the suspect. The sheriff's department is now checking to see if Page will voluntarily consent to extradition back to Hancock.

Peterson stated, "If she refuses voluntary extradition, we will ask Albert Nease, district attorney, to begin extradition procedures for her return."

"Guilbeau was treated for head lacerations at Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis and released after the incident," Peterson noted.

Peterson felt this was a very hard case to solve and commended the work of Ladner and Naylor "who did a lot of traveling" between Pascagoula and Texas.

The sheriff said they were responsible for locating the suspect.

Bay man booked in robbery

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Bay St. Louis man is in Hancock County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bond and charged with robbing an elderly woman in that city.

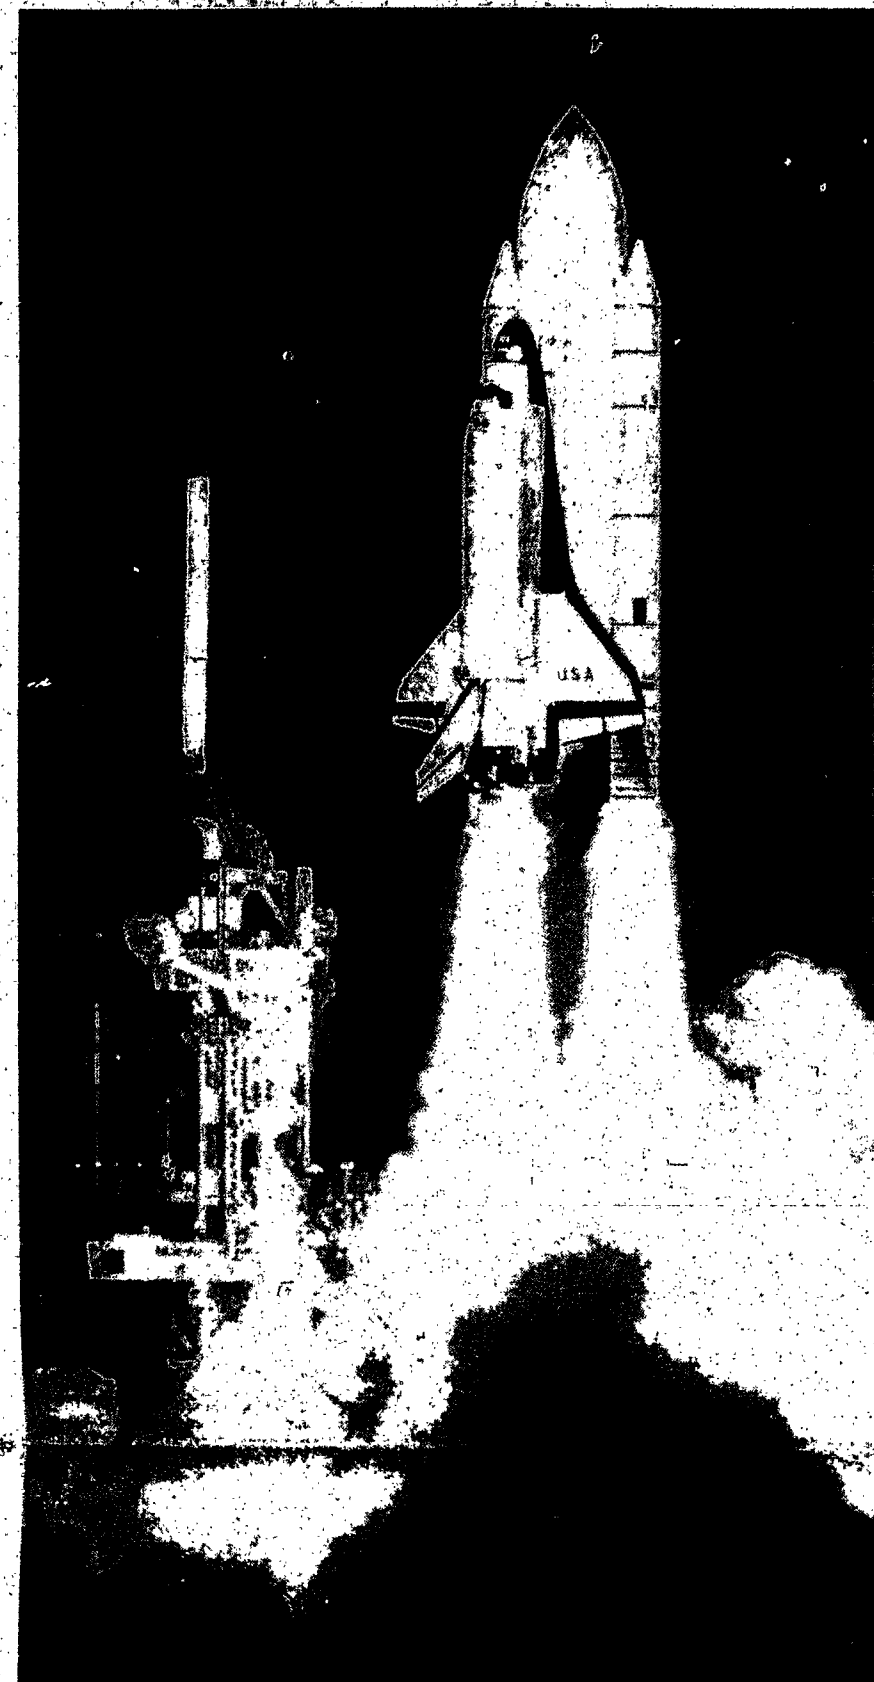

Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson of Hancock County Friday said Frank Earl Brown, 22, of 210 Sycamore St. was arrested Friday night after that day's robbery. Brown was taken to the Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments.

Peterson said Brown is charged in the armed robbery of Lucy Bradt, 80, of 400 Hancock St. at about 11:30 a.m. on March 11.

The sheriff said Brown allegedly went to Bradt's residence and asked the woman if she would employ him as a yard worker.

"After she said no, Brown reportedly asked for a glass of water. She apparently told him to stay outside at the BLAST OFF—The Space Shuttle Columbia leaps off the launch pad at Kennedy Space Center in Florida in its recent second flight. The reusable orbiter is scheduled for a third launch Monday at 9 a.m. Engines for the orbiter were tested and certified for flight at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County. The torpedo-shaped fuel tank which is the only nonreusable portion of the shuttle is constructed by Martin Marietta Aerospace's Michoud facility in New Orleans.

HASHISH PLANTS, PIPES CONFISCATED—Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, right, Saturday weighs a block of substance believed to be hashish as Hancock Investigator Delbert Seay inspects a pipe confiscated in a raid of a Hancock County residence Friday evening. Peterson said Randy E. Koenen, 23, of 1014 N. Main St. in Bay St. Louis, was arrested and charged for allegedly growing and cultivating marijuana, and possession of hashish and paraphernalia. Deputy Glen Strong received information about the illegal items and following an investigation, a search warrant was issued. Peterson said. The sheriff added that approximately six ounces of hashish, three ounces of marijuana, pipes, marijuana seeds, and 204 seeded containers with seeds with growing marijuana plants were confiscated in the raid. A preliminary hearing for Koenen has been scheduled before Justice Court Judge John C. H. Smith April 1. Participants in the raid were Peterson, Seay, Strong, Auxiliary Deputy David Manning, and Waveland Investigators Robert (Poochy) Tartavolpe and Sandra Healey. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Bits 'n pieces

The hottest thing we have heard lately is the plight of a Hancock County firefighter who was on his way to an emergency.

He was going down the highway with lights flashing and all of a sudden he realized his auto was on fire.

Now, we wouldn't want to embarrass this guy so we will not tell you his name, just give you a few hints. He is a member of the Hancock County Arson Investigation Squad, drives a red auto which has multi-colored lights on top, and works for a fire department north of I-10 in a community which is not incorporated.

He told us the reason for the fire, or so he says, is the timing chain broke causing a backfire of the engine and igniting the carburetor.

Fortunately the fire caused only a few cents of damage to the car, but the timing chain was costlier.

It will be blood drawing time in Waveland on Wednesday from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the American Legion Home on Coleman Avenue.

J. D. (Big John) Rutherford, Hancock County Blood Bank chairman says he is hoping there will be a large turnout of donors at this drawing for the month of March.

There is always a need for more blood and we hope everyone who is able will donate a unit.

We have received several telephone calls from subscribers telling us of some really beautiful azaleas since our last report of the freeze-damaged plants.

Some have reported beautiful blooms in Pearlington, Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

It is still amazing to us how bad the azaleas looked after the severe freeze and how beautiful many of them are now.

CONSUMER REPORT

A Service of the Consumer Protection Division of the Office of Bill Allain, Attorney General
P.O. Box 220, Jackson, MS 39205 (601-354-7130)

Attorney General Bill Allain says that purchasing real estate for leisure use can provide a lot of enjoyment, but many consumers encounter problems when trying to select land.

Allain states that developers use many techniques to entice consumers into purchasing land, but that one should always investigate thoroughly before accepting land sale offers.

Here are some tips that consumers can follow when making a wise land selection:

—Before going to the recreational development, write down what was promised in the advertisement and take it along. Ask the salesman to explain the details of the advertisement one by one.

—Visit and compare at least three developments.

—Never put a downpayment on property without first inspecting it.

—Walk around the lot and see what you are getting. Make sure the lot you view is not a sample lot, but the one you are buying.

—Get a plan of the lot and find out exactly what the zoning for the property is.

—Find out if the area is subject to floods, wind storms, or poor drainage.

—Check the present market value of the property.

—Inquire about all the costs of the property. Find out about assessments, taxes, association fees, and warranties.

—Make sure you can afford the property.

—Insist that all oral promises be written into the contract. Thoroughly understand the contract before signing it. You are also required to sign a statement which says you have fully read the property report. Request a copy of the various property reports and contracts to review.

—Check for a land reclamation clause in the contract. The Department of Health can test your property for drainage to determine if you can build on the property. The land perc clause may promise to refund your money if it is not qualified for building, or it may state that you can exchange your property.

—Take a copy of the contract to be reviewed by your attorney. And, if possible, be represented by legal counsel at the closing of the property.

—Find out if the developer has posted a bond with the local jurisdiction as a faithful token to complete the development if he goes bankrupt.

For additional information contact Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P. O. Box 220, Jackson, Mississippi 39205.

GASOLINE ADDITIVES

Attorney General Bill Allain has announced that consumers should exercise extreme caution before purchasing or investing in expensive gasoline additives that promise large increases in gasoline mileage.

Allain says that besides being asked to buy individual products consumers may find themselves recruited into becoming a distributor with promises of high profits within a short time.

Often these companies turn out to be operating nothing more than a pyramid scheme designed to make a profit from the recruiting of people rather than the selling of a product.

During the past few months the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office has received various complaints concerning additives that may sell for $15 a bottle and promise a savings of $65 at the gas pump.

After careful investigating, one such product was found to be nothing more than a common petroleum distillate similar to paint thinner.

Anyone thinking seriously about investing in such products should first make a thorough investigation of the promoters and the product they are promoting. The investment of a little time may save the investor a lot of money.

Senator Cochran reports

EXPORTS CREATE JOBS

Exports are a very important part of the American economy and especially the economy of our own state, Mississippi.

In fact, expanded trade abroad offers one of the best avenues for economic advancement and new job opportunities for Mississippians.

Many people tend to overlook the importance of our trade with other countries, even though their own livelihood may be directly or indirectly tied to our export market activity.

Did you know that for every $1 billion in agriculture sales abroad, there are about 26,000 American jobs created? The sale of the same amount of manufactured goods results in 40,000 to 50,000 new jobs.

In 1980, the last year for which we have complete figures, Mississippi exported a record $1.6 billion in manufactured products, and about $1 billion in agricultural commodities.

We rank 13th in the country in farm exports, and 33rd nationally in overall exports of goods and services.

These figures show significant increases over the past several years, and we expect the statistics for 1981 to show continued improvement.

For the United States as a whole, export sales totaled more than $155 billion, accounting for 4.8 million jobs in 1980. In Mississippi, we are told that one in every 12 manufacturing jobs is directly related to foreign trade.

As your United States Senator, naturally, I am extremely interested in our overseas trade activity, and I am continually seeking ways, through legislation, national policy, and cooperative efforts with private businesses to expand exports.

The federal government, through agencies such as the State Department and the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce, can, and should, take an aggressive part in promoting our interests in overseas markets.

In my capacity as a member of the Senate Agriculture and Appropriations committees, I have sought to provide both the authority and adequate funding for increasing export promotion, which helps to sell American products and commodities to customers in other countries.

The fact that we must import substantial quantities of foreign oil, at sharply increased prices the past few years, underscores even more the crucial importance of a sound export policy.

Our country's trade deficit last year amounted to $28 billion. Contrast that with the $44 billion we exported in farm commodities alone, and the importance of foreign trade becomes obvious.

Historically, Mississippi and the South have been leading advocates of free trade. The region is still very much dependent upon foreign markets.

We now ship substantial quantities of soybeans, rice, poultry, cotton, lumber and related products to foreign markets. Did you know that our state ranks second nationally in the export of fishery products, including both seafood and catfish?

The people of Mississippi should be proud of the role our state plays in these international markets. Our farms, forests, and factories stand ready to play an even greater role in the future.

Our ports on the Gulf Coast, along the Mississippi River, and the soon-to-be completed Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway will provide the state with unique opportunities for expansion of overseas trade.

No better program can be designed for helping alleviate our high unemployment rate and building a stronger economy.

PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS AT STATE—The board of directors and other members of the Mississippi Press Association recently conducted a business meeting on the campus of Mississippi State University. Among those participating are, from left, Jack L. Bouchillon Jr., general manager of the Meridian Star; Jack R. Tannehill, editor and publisher of the Union Appeal; and Ellis C. Cuevas, editor and publisher of The Sea Coast Echo. Tannehill is MPA president, while Bouchillon and Cuevas are members of the board. Included on the meeting agenda was a proposal to create a summer intern program for journalism majors at Mississippi's colleges and universities.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Attorney general confirms legality of school board legal fees

March 15, 1982
Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

In your Thursday, March 11 edition you had a very good item in the Bits 'n Pieces about the County School Board approving to pay their legal fees in connection with the suit filed against them by the Attorney General Bill Allain.

I wrote Mr. Allain about this to find out the facts about this matter. This is what he wrote me, and I quote:

"I appreciate your concern in this matter. To question the propriety of such payment of attorney's fees is logical and valid, especially when one considers the spirit of honesty, integrity and ethical conduct required of officials who hold the public trust and who are charged with the faithful and lawful performances of their duties.

"However, in these matters we must also consider the laws by which we are governed.

"Accordingly, I must inform you of a law that was passed by the Mississippi Legislature and is still on the books today.

"The law is written in such a way that it could provide the legal authorization for the payment of the fees, in the matter of which you complain. The law does not mandate the payment of the fees, but states that the matter is within the discretion of the local governing authorities. It is their decision to make. The Mississippi Legislature has given them such authorization."

(Unquote)

So, People, what it comes down to is the law says that it can be paid out of the pockets of the people involved or they can approve to pay it out of county funds.

Keep in mind there was a choice here. Although what they did was legally right, you have to ask yourself if it was morally and ethically right?

Yours respectfully,
Mrs. Archie Lusich

I being a member of DAV Chapter No. 50 of Bay St. Louis, have been informed by National Services and Legislative Headquarters, in Washington, D.C. that some 320,000 service connected, 30 percent to 40 percent disabled veterans and all service connected veterans with dependents training under Vocational Rehabilitation program will lose a portion of their benefit checks.

I as a member am against proposed fiscal year 1983 budget cuts.

Also as our National DAV commander puts it, "Like it or not, veterans benefits are part of the cost of war and it is time our nation's leaders responsibly face up to that fact."

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

Saying he will demand "a rigid adherence to fiscal responsibility" Governor William Winter indicated he would veto legislative measures that force the state to live beyond its revenue means.

Winter, who was joined at a press conference to discuss Mississippi's fiscal picture by Budget Commission Director Jim Cofer, said the Legislature must keep appropriations within guidelines set by the state Budget Commission.

The governor noted that the state's tight revenue picture "leaves no margin for error" in the budgeting process.

In a related matter, Winter signed into law a bill allowing the state to issue tax-exempt, short-term commercial paper in the event of general fund cash-flow difficulties. Under current policy the state dips into special funds for cash during periods of cash-flow problems. The new procedure will save the state money by allowing special funds to remain in interest-bearing accounts.

Commenting on the House of Representative's failure to approve his innovative Trust Fund program to finance economic development and education initiatives, the governor commented: "This is a severe setback for the people of Mississippi. We have missed an opportunity to improve and enrich the economic health of our state.

I do not, however, regard this action as the final word and I will continue to work for this program and the important needs it addresses. Public opinion overwhelmingly supports this effort and I think ultimately the best interest of the people will prevail."

Folk Festival to feature quilting art

By JOE PILET

April 19, as our early settlers might describe it, is just "two whoops and a holla" away. And that's an important date to be marked in red on your calendar.

It all started back in August 1981 when Betty Belanus of the Mississippi Arts Commission came down from Jackson to meet with staff members and friends of the Hancock County Library System in search of folk artists who could and would demonstrate their skills during a folk festival.

Needlecraft — especially quilting — loomed large on the priorities because the revival of quilt making has become a nation-wide "craze" with men as well as women addicted to the hobby.

When people of Hancock County think of needlework they always think of Ruby Bennett. She is a master craftsman whose hands are ever busy with embroidering, chair cane-weaving, crocheting and lace making, upholstering and refinishing furniture, dress making, and a dozen or so other related crafts, but primarily quilt-making.

Ms. Bennett was born in Logtown, one of nine children of the D.S. Osbourn family. She attended the Logtown School where pupils came from as far away as Pearlington and classes ran through the ninth grade.

She still has a picture of that old wooden-frame two story building, and can remember when she started to school. But she can't remember when she first started quilting, nor does she have any idea of how many quilts she has made.

Her mother taught all the girls to sew, and keeping hands busy and minds occupied was a way of life with that family. They worked. "An idle hand is the devil's workshop," and "A little folding of the hands brings poverty" were sayings frequently repeated by oldsters.

In their writing tablets such sentiments were written, as well as "A stitch in time saves nine," and "A whistling girl and a growing hen always come to a mighty bad end."

The Osbourn children were taught they could do anything they set their minds to — and they proved it! Ruby grew up and married in the family home to river-boat captain, I.F. Bennett, who was employed by the Jahneke Service.

When Captain Bennett was on duty and evenings were long Ruby pieced quilts. Pieced Log Cabin, Irish Chain, Nine-Patch, The Star, and many more.

Quilts were given as special occasion gifts to friends, neighbors and relatives.

"I still make quilts," she explained, "but not as many as I used to because my eyes seem to get tired if I work too long at one type of work."

When the tiny stitches required in quilting get tedious Ms. Bennett switches to crochet — or embroidery, or maybe making something for one of her three great-grandchildren.

Quilting? Where did this needle art originate? And what is quilting? Well, a quilt is a padded needlework covering.

Usually we think of bed-quilts with geometric designs, however, quilting was used thousands of years ago when soldiers, during the Middle Ages wore plain quilted garments under their armor.

When the Dutch and English came to colonize America they brought quilts with them, beautiful quilts of fine fabrics and patterns.

They used quilted pads on benches and chairs to protect themselves against the chill and drafts for their homes were not too well insulated.

Quilting "bees" were popular. Groups would gather in a home where a frame holding quilt top, middle padding and backing has been set up.

Quilting designs such as scrolls or shells were traced and nimble fingers, making the finest of stitches, followed the designs.

The Quilting bees afforded an opportunity for the exchange of home cures, recipes, and gossip.

Later, there might be refreshments when the men joined the group and a bit of music and dancing ended the event.

Some very fine quilts of museum quality are to be on display during the Hancock County Folk Festival, Ms. Bennett will be there, of course, as will several other needlecraft artists.

Quilt hobbyist and collectors may wish to peruse some of the available books on the subject to be found in the Hancock County Libraries.

There they will find valuable tips on how to determine the age of quilts and the fine points in judging workmanship.

front door while she poured some water, but he allegedly followed Brandt into the house, forced her down to the floor and began choking the woman," Peterson explained.

Peterson said Brown allegedly then gagged Brandt with a red bandana, took $118 in cash from a purse and fled in an easterly direction on foot.

The sheriff reported the woman apparently saw some sort of weapon during the incident.

Peterson said Brown is scheduled for a preliminary hearing before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein of District One at 6 p.m. April 5.

The sheriff noted that although the apparent crime occurred in District Five, Klein will hear the case because Brandt is an aunt of Justice Court Judge John Chevis of that district.

Peterson reported that Brown was apprehended at his home and offered no resistance.

The sheriff said before Brown was placed in a lineup he confessed to the crime.

He added that a pair of brown boots and a red bandana apparently used in the crime were found at Brown's residence.

Cyclist injured in US-90 crash

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The driver of a motorcycle involved in a one-vehicle accident at US-90 and Fayview Drive in Henderson Point was rushed by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service to Hancock General Hospital late Saturday afternoon.

Patrolman Mike Cox of the State

Highway Patrol said at the accident scene that Charles S. Creibaym of 2701 David Drive, Apt. C in Metairie, La., appear to be seriously injured in the accident.

No report of his condition was available from the hospital emergency room at press time that evening. The highway patrolman reported Creibaym was traveling West on US-90 and witnesses said he was apparently "weaving along the road" on the highway overpass.

"He appeared to have had head injuries," Cox stated.

The accident was investigated by Cox and Patrolman Tony Greer.

Council increases efforts to create Bay zoning map

By BRENT MACEY

The Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday agreed to speed up its pace in creating a zoning map for the city and to extend the current six-month moratorium on beach front construction in residential areas.

Currently there is no accurate zoning map for the city and no ordinance pertaining to construction on beach property outside the Downtown business district.

The council passed the moratorium on beach construction outside the business district in December to allow time until an ordinance could be established.

The December ordinance will expire May 19, and the new moratorium will give the council an additional six months to resolve the problem.

At the Tuesday meeting, two councilmen noted a need to make an official zoning map.

Councilman James Thrifflay stated, "We have been on the center line too long and we have to do something."

The map on the wall in City Hall, created with the help of Gulf Regional Planning approximately one year ago, is currently not an official zoning guide.

Tuesday, Council President Wilmer Seymour noted the map is "beautiful...but not what we expected."

Many Bay citizens reacted angrily over inaccuracies in the map which was first revealed last year. Seymour noted a new accurate map will save city officials a lot of embarrassment in their everyday work with the public.

Council members agreed to instruct Clerk Edward Favre to expedite efforts of former city clerks to update an authentic 1964 zoning map which is reported to have disappeared shortly after Hurricane Camille in 1969.

Friday, Favre said his job will entail finding the appropriate person or people to write legal and survey descriptions and draw a map.

"It may take more than one person," he said.

Favre said he hopes to report to the council April 6, on what has been done on updating the map, what needs to be done, who can do the work, and an estimate of how much the work will cost.

The clerk noted that Eddie Engelhorn, a former city clerk, completed researching zoning changes recorded in the minutes of the council since 1964.

Although changes have been made since 1964, none have been recorded on a map.

Engelhorn was instructed by the council last year to research the changes since 1964. Favre said.

Favre noted that longshore work will not have to be duplicated in reference to the beachfront construction moratorium. He stated the zoning map will have little effect on the council's attempt to draft a new ordinance pertaining to beachfront construction on residential property.

Members of the Planning and Zoning Commission stated at a recent public hearing that they knew how the beachfront areas of the city is zoned although no map exists.

However, Favre noted the new map may help beachfront property owners understand how their land is zoned since zoning labels have been changed in recent years.

Joe Marochino, executive vice president of the commission, Friday stated the zoning nomenclature was changed in 1967.

He noted that property once labeled B for business was changed to C for commercial, M for manufacturing was changed to I for industrial, while R for residential was retained.

"I don't know why they made the changes," Marochino said.

He noted that although R for residential stayed the same, R-S was changed to R-1.

Child hanging victim buried

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Funeral services were Saturday for Joseph Scott Cola Saturday in Citronelle, Ala.

The 11-year-old was a sixth grader at Bay Junior High who resided at 1019 Longo St. in Waveland who apparently died by accidentally hanging himself Thursday according to police.

Assistant Chief Jerry Grimillion of the Bay St. Louis Police Department Friday said, "The police department received a call at 2:02 p.m. Thursday, but when police and firefighters arrived at the scene the young boy was on the floor and was receiving cardio pulmonary resuscitation by a lady. A firefighter took over until Mobile Medic technicians arrived a few minutes later."

The child was found on the floor of his bedroom at Goodwill Industries on Necaise Avenue in Bay St. Louis. He had a neck tie around his neck and another tied to a clothing rack. Apparently he was standing on the commode, called his mother and lost his balance with the tie around his neck," Grimillion explained.

"We feel there was not indication of foul play, our investigation is continuing, but we feel it will be ruled as an accident. The boy liked to play tricks, according to a witness," he said.

Mobile Medic transported Cola to Hancock General Hospital where he died later that day," Grimillion stated. "The incident occurred while his mother, Wanda Gardner, was working at Goodwill in place of a friend. A bystander said the boy had been playing with neck ties in the store," he reported.

Roberta Harvill of Longo Street in Waveland Friday said a neighbor and mother of a classmate reported that Joseph had been at her residence on Wednesday playing for about three hours.

She said, "Joseph was a very happy boy, he enjoyed life, and was a frequent visitor. We never had any trouble with him and he was always very good."

Cola resided in Waveland for about five years with his mother and stepfather Ronald Gardner, and brother Gordon, Wayne Cola.

His father, Lawrence Gordon Cola resides in Mobile, Ala.

Among those responding to the call were Grimillion, Larry Davis, Bay investigator; Bruce Mitchem, a Bay patrolman; Brenda Anderson, assistant chief of the Bay auxiliary police; Bay St. Louis firefighters, and Mobile Medic emergency medical technicians.

temporarily housing many stray animals collected in the cities. Other animals, due to a lack of facilities, are killed.

C. J. Dumestre Jr. of Waveland, commission chairman, Saturday stated, "We've had to hold up on construction, but at this time we have no comment."

However, Dumestre said the commission will meet Wednesday and offer a comment after that meeting.

The apparent reason for the construction standstill is a petition signed by about 900 people and many residents surrounding the site. "Cox said the petition was presented Wednesday night to the Waveland Board of Aldermen, Tuesday night to the Bay Council and Monday morning to the County Board of Supervisors."

At the Waveland meeting, Mayor Longo told Don Harvill and her son, Donald, of Longo Street in Waveland, who presented the petition, that there had been a lack of communication between the city and the commission regarding the waste bank.

Barbara Rappold, city clerk, and an Alderman said, "The location was not the best location for the waste bank."

and we were not notified."

Longo also stated the city might consider building its own shelter if a city-county facility is not built soon.

"We may not participate at all. Then we'll have a Waveland dog shelter," Longo said.

All of the aldermen attending the meeting nodded in agreement.

Donald Harvill stated, "We believed the shelter would be located at the eastern end of the pond. Now I've heard some people think it should be built on the northern side."

Longo said a site "somewhere else around the pond" would have to be located.

What was intended to be built was a new, modern facility, the mayor said.

Barbara Rappold, city clerk, said that residents of the city would be allowed to use the surrounding neighborhood for a waste bank. She said the city had been conducting a public hearing regarding the construction of the waste bank.

Regarding an ordinance prohibiting the construction of a waste bank, Longo said, "The location was not the best location for the waste bank."

the city, the aldermen accepted a recommendation by the City Planning and Zoning Commission to ban the housing units and adopted an ordinance prohibiting time-sharing condos.

In other business at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at City Hall, the board:

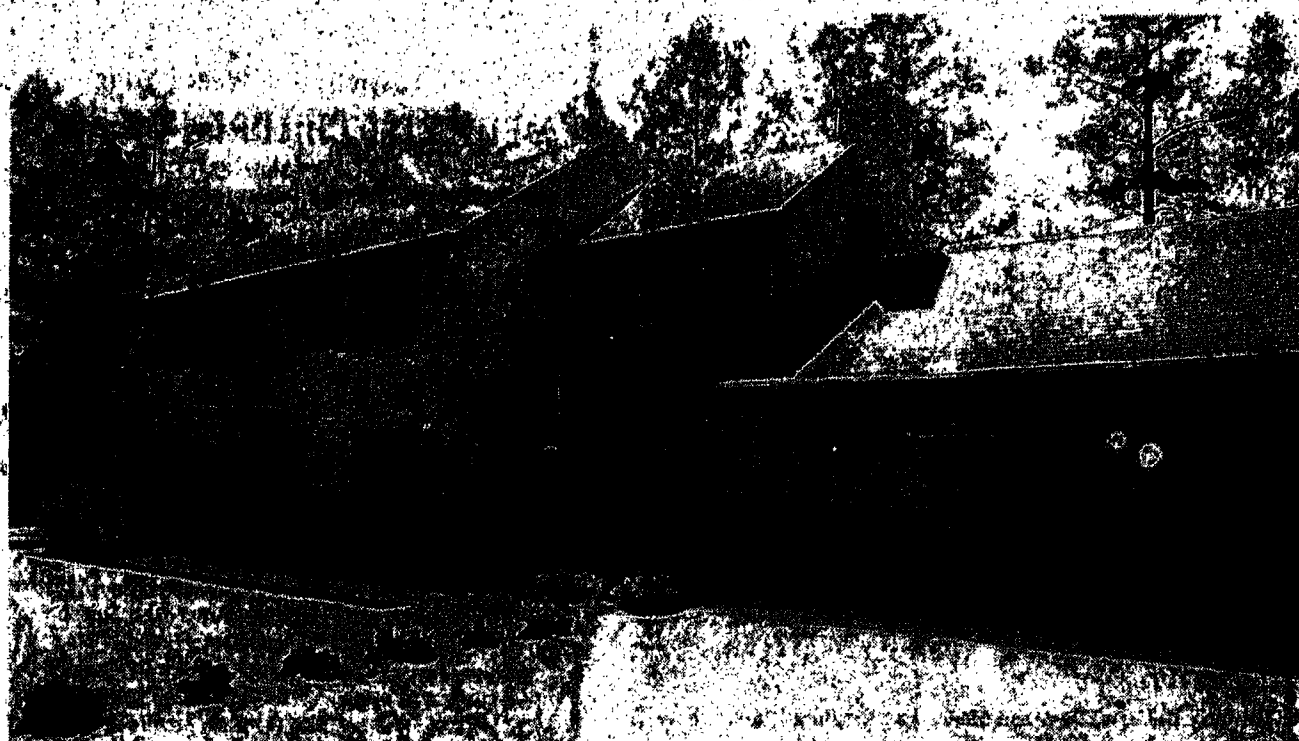

—Heard a presentation by Wayne Jackson of Biloxi, a Prudential Insurance Co. of America district agent, requesting the city's employees consider participating in a group life insurance program. Longo agreed to conduct a meeting of the employees to determine how many are interested in the program.

—Presented a State Bureau of Pollution Control certificate to Darlene Ann Ribiere, a City of Waveland meter reader, for completing a one-week BPC course at the University of Southern Mississippi's Gulf Park Campus in Long Beach.

—Directed City Attorney William C. Harvill to check with the State Bureau of Pollution Control regarding the maximum amount of time for the city to conduct a public hearing on the construction of the waste bank.

—Reviewed a petition from Mayor Longo to the County Board of Supervisors regarding a tax increase.

Terrells celebrate golden anniversary

MR. AND MRS. LEDELL TERRELL

Ledell and Willie Mae Terrell celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary February 21 with a renewal of vows at the First Missionary Baptist Church with Rev. Lawrence Collins Sr. DD officiating.

The couple first exchanged vows February 22, 1912 in Kiln.

Mrs. Ruby Collins, organist, and Jessie Hathorn, vocalist and daughter of the couple, provided musical selections. Mrs. Terrell wore a beige two piece suit with beige accessories. An orchid corsage trimmed with gold ribbon and lace completed her ensemble.

Serving as attendants to the couple were Mrs. Jessie T. Hathorn of Pass Christian; Lillie Mae Price of Bay St. Louis, sister of Mrs. Terrell; and Ruth Terrell of Pass Christian, daughter-in-law of the couple.

Mrs. Price wore a blue lace dress with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Ruth Terrell was attired in a coral dress with yellow silk rose corsage. Mrs. Hathorn chose for the occasion maroon ensemble with the yellow silk corsage.

Serving as best man was Phillip Terrell of Pass Christian, son of the couple. Groomsmen were George Price of Bay St. Louis, Wallace Hathorn of Pass Christian and Freddie Lee Terrell of Houston, Tex., son of the couple.

Flower girls were Tennielle Terrell of Pass Christian and Katrina Terrell of Houston, Tex., granddaughters of the Terrells.

Ushers were Donny Hathorn and Freddie Terrell, grandsons of the couple. A reception followed the ceremony at the First Missionary Baptist Church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth and was decorated with yellow roses and ivy, with gold candelabra flanking the cake. Assisting were Mrs. Lillie Mae Terrell, Mrs. Isabelle Curry and Mrs. Mary Parker of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Pamela Johnson of Piquette was an out-of-town guest. The Terrells have resided in Bay St. Louis for 50 years. Mrs. Terrell is a native of Kiln and Mr. Terrell of Bogie Chitto.
